

like an eight track in a widening groove the morning pops and scrapes as it moves like a city in a dream its devil's peak is a scraggle of twigs in a sparrow's beak